THE SEMINAR GROUP ~ FACULTY

Carbon Credits

David Ashton, Program Co-Chair, is Senior Assistant General Counsel for the Port of Portland and specializes in the area of environmental, natural resources, land use and environmental sustainability law. He also represents the Port on hazardous substance contamination matters, including Brownfields redevelopments, the Portland Harbor Superfund Site and cleanup and insurance recovery claims.

Sally Brick, Program Co-Chair, is a partner with K&L Gates LLP. She represents public and private clients in environmental, land use and natural resource matters. She has expertise under the Growth Management Act, the Shoreline Management Act, the State and National Environmental Policy Acts. In addition, she offers experience in international law, including climate change.

Michael A. Nesteroff, Program Co-Chair, is a shareholder with Lane Powell PC, a member of the firm's environmental law practice group and editor of Environs, the firm's newsletter on recent developments in environmental law. His practice focuses on environmental law, real estate litigation, securities litigation, and commercial litigation.

Thomas R. Wood, Program Co-Chair, a member with Stoel Rives LLP, focuses his practice in the area of environmental law. He has significant experience in the areas of air quality and hazardous waste permitting and compliance. He has counseled some of the leading industries in the United States on environmental permitting issues, commercial transactions and the interrelationships between the two.

Sallie Schullinger-Krause, Keynote Speaker, is the Program Director for Global Warming at the Oregon Environmental Council (OEC). She joined the OEC in 2006 and leads its program to reduce statewide global warming emissions from cars and trucks. She has nine years organizing experience working in the nonprofit environmental community on climate and energy issues.

Sean Clark, Director of Offset Programs at The Climate Trust, has been working in the field of climate and atmosphere policy issues for more than twelve years. While at The Climate Trust, he has overseen more than $4 million worth of offset project acquisitions. As the Director of Offset Programs, he is responsible for offset project acquisitions and The Climate Trust's various policy initiatives.

Richard Garber is the Environmental Manager for Boise, Inc. Boise is the third-largest North American manufacturer of uncoated free sheet paper with a focus on office papers. The firm also operates five paper mills, five corrugated products plants, a corrugated sheet feeder, a corrugated sheet plant, two distribution facilities, and a transportation business.

Gayle S. Koch, a Principal at The Brattle Group, works in the areas of environmental and product liability, applying her engineering and business background to address the complex technical and economic issues that often arise. She serves as ASTM International's technical contact for its environmental cost estimation standard, environmental disclosure standard, and forthcoming climate change disclosure standard.

Scott C. Nelson, an attorney with K&L Gates LLP, focuses on litigation and federal policy. Prior to joining the firm, he served on the staff of U.S. Senator Byron Dorgan (D-ND) in several capacities, most recently as deputy chief of staff. He also worked at the U.S. Department of Energy under Secretary Bill Richardson and was a legal fellow in the office of Virginia Governor Mark Warner.

Uri Papish is the Air Quality Program Operations Manager with the Oregon Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ). He has 12 years experience working in the environmental field and is actively involved in rule development and climate change policy. He previously served as the DEQ's Deputy Air Quality Administrator and has held a variety of positions in the DEQ's Water Quality division.

Reuben C. Plantico, Director of Environmental and Sustainability Policy with Portland General Electric (PGE), leads PGE's environmental policy team in the areas of climate change advocacy, federal and state environmental regulation, and stewardship of natural resources. He brings nearly 30 years experience to the position, including more than two decades working on Clean Air Act and resource issues for utilities.

David E. Van't Hof, a shareholder with Lane Powell PC, focuses his practice in the areas of sustainability, renewable energy and green building, drawing experience from his many years as a Sustainability Policy Advisor for the office of Oregon Governor Ted Kulongoski.
